TO MEET TRAIN AT MAIN STREET

Every Member of Chamber of Commerce Will Act as Member of the Reception Committee.

TO CINCINNATI BOOSTERS

I. & C. Will Tender Use of Special Car as Sample of What Extension to Cincinnati Will be.

Every member of the Chamber of Commerce of Rush county is duly appointed a member of the reception committee which will greet the hundred or more Cincinnati boosters when they arrive here in a special train, accompanied by John Weber's band, Thursday morning at eight-thirty o'clock from Connersville.

The special train will be stopped at Main street and the crowd will get off there so as to save time. Every member of the Chamber of Commerce is urged to be at the Main street crossing when the train arrives. The crowd will form and march to the court house square where an hour's program will be carried out.

Short speeches will be made by Will M. Sparks, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Samuel L. Trabue and Anthony Schrichte, in behalf of Rushville and members of the Cincinnati party will respond. A short band concert will be given. There will be unusual interest in Weber's band, not only because it is one of the foremost musical organizations in the United States, but because it will give two concerts here on Wednesday of the Rush county chautauqua.

The Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company, in order that the Cincinnati manufacturers and wholesalers may see what sort of a line the I. & C. operates in view of the fact that an extension of the line from this city to Cincinnati, by way of Brookville is contemplated, will extend Wednesday night at Connersville an invitation to as many of the boosters as can be accommodated to leave their special train on the trip from Connersville to Rushville and ride over in a special I. & C. car.

Circulars extending the invitation will be placed in the hands of the trade boosters by representatives of the I. & C. Wednesday night, when they will spend the night in Connersville. Will M. Frazee, Charles O. Warfel and Lewis Henry of the I. & C. will meet them in Connersville Wednesday night and Thursday morning, Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C., will go from here to Connersville to come back on the special car. The use of a car will also be tendered by the I. & C. on the trip from Shelbyville to Greensburg.

The circular, which will have on the back a map showing the present I. & C. lines in Indiana and the proposed line of extension, reads as follows:

This Company welcomes the representatives of the business interests of Cincinnati on this Trade Excursion.

The itinerary brings you to Connersville Wednesday evening, May 13th, where you first touch our line. From there you parallel our line to Rushville. Again you touch our line at Shelbyville, and parallel it from Shelbyville to Greensburg.

The accompanying map shows, in black, the present lines and, in red, the proposed extension from Rushville, via Metamora, Brookville and Harrison, to Cincinnati. This extension will bring all of the territory from Rushville to Cincinnati, in fact, all of this territory, directly tributary and in close touch and easy reach.

$15,000 DAMAGE SUIT SENT HERE

Case of Neelus L. Fisher Against Stoughton A. Fletcher Comes on Change of Venue.

INVOLVES AUTO ACCIDENT

A $15,000 damage suit against Stoughton A. Fletcher, of the Fletcher American bank of Indianapolis, reached the Rush circuit court this morning on a change of venue from Hancock county. The suit was first filed in the Marion county Superior court May 25, 1911 and was sent to Hancock county when the defendant asked for a change of venue. The present change was made on motion of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff in the suit is Neelus L. Fisher, who alleges that Frank Clements, chauffeur for Mr. Fletcher, drove the Fletcher automobile into a milk wagon, in which Fisher was riding, at the speed of fifty miles an hour. The accident took place in South Meridian street, Indianapolis, on May 29, 1910. Mr. Fisher alleges that he was permanently injured because of the negligence of the defendant's agent and servant, Clements.

The original complaint is in two paragraphs. The second paragraph states that Clements was in the habit of becoming intoxicated and that Fletcher was aware of this fact. He alleges that Clements was under the influence of intoxicating liquor when he drove the automobile into the plaintiff's milk wagon.

STATE MAY BE ABLE TO GET IT

(By United Press.)

The governor said this could not be given from the flood fund, but might be spared from the contingent fund.

The plan includes a complete survey of Indiana water sheds by engineers, tabulation of rainfall, history of floods and data of prevention in other states and in Indiana cities. E. W. Shirk of Peru was made permanent chairman of the executive committee.

INJURY IN AUTO MISHAP FATAL

Robert Dye of West Indianapolis at His Home Following Accident at Knightstown.

WHEEL OF AUTO COMES OFF

Dye Suffers Internal Injuries, But is Able to be Removed to His Home —Machine Damaged.

From the effects of internal injuries sustained just west of Knightsbridge Sunday Walter Dye expired at his home in West Indianapolis late yesterday afternoon.

There were five Indianapolis men in the car when the right front wheel came off and the axle struck the ground, throwing the machine over against an interurban car track. The machine was driven by Alonzo Huffman, 833 Birch avenue, Indianapolis.

In the front seat with Mr. Huffman was Mr. Dye and in the rear seat Rufus Barrow, 922 Coffey street; Frank Fullman, 819 River street, and J. A. Knight, 614 Marion avenue, Dye's father-in-law. The five men are said to have been hurled fifty feet when the car "turned turtle." Dye alighted on the interurban tracks, his head and shoulders striking the rails and ties. J. A. Knight was badly bruised about the head, shoulders and arms. The others escaped serious injury.

Dye was taken to Knightstown, where a physician dressed his injuries, and at 11 o'clock was brought to his home in West Indianapolis. He did not regain his senses. He was an employee of the J. C. Schaub Grocery Company of West Indianapolis and is survived by his widow and two small children: his mother, Mrs. Margaret Dye; three sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services will be held at the Trinity M. E. church tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. L. C. Murr, pastor of the church, officiating. Dye was a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Maccabees and a trustee of the Trinity M. E. church.

4 REMONSTRANCES AGAINST OILING

City Council Will Meet Tonight to Hear Them, But Most of Streets Will be Oiled.

WORK TO START ABOUT JUNE 1

The city council will meet in special session tonight to hear remonstrances against the proposed oiling of the streets, which is to be done as a public improvement. Up until noon today City Clerk Gunning had received four remonstrances against the oiling. The remonstrances covered parts of certain streets and from present indications most of the streets of the city will be oiled. It is believed that the company will soon become a very successful one with great prospects of a rapid and at the same time stable growth.

By increasing the capital of the concern and placing it under the direction of experienced business men, it is believed that the company will soon become a very successful one with great prospects of a rapid and at the same time stable growth.

DIRECTORS VOTE $500 FOR A SITE

Chamber of Commerce Acts When Individuals Feel That They Can Not Help Project Out.

MOST OF STOCK DISPOSED OF American Valve and Tank Company Will be Moved Here if Conditions Are Met With.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met this morning at ten o'clock and voted five hundred dollars to pay for a site for the American Valve and Tank company providing it is moved here from Indianapolis.

Rushville capitalists had until this afternoon at five o'clock to determine whether they could sell fifteen thousand dollars worth of preferred stock in the concern. That much stock sold here would mean that Rush county and Rushville men would have the controlling interests and would move the factory here.

A hasty meeting of the board was called last night to see what the Chamber of Commerce could do to bring the factory here. None of the directors felt that he had the money to spare to invest just now and several suggestions for raising money to bring the concern here were considered.

Since the directors as individuals did not feel that they could afford to invest now, it was suggested that the board vote a sum of money to the company, since the by-laws allow such action, to buy a site. The board was called to meet at ten o'clock and the suggestion was readily taken up.

The voting of the five hundred dollars means that the board of directors stands good for that amount and that the money will not be paid out of the treasury of the organization. The board may use any means it sees fit to raise the money.

At noon it was reported that the sale of stock was going forward rapidly and that approximately ten thousand dollars in stock had been sold. The local capitalists offer for every share of preferred stock an equal amount of common stock. The preferred stock is guaranteed to pay seven per cent and fifty per cent. of the earnings is to be set aside each year to pay off the preferred stock.

Local investors have liked the proposition very much because of the great future it offers. The product of the concern has been tried out and has been found to be the best of its kind on the market. All that the company has lacked to make it a big success in the past is the fact that it has lacked money to extend its activities and has also lacked sane business management.

By increasing the capital of the concern and placing it under the direction of experienced business men, it is believed that the company will soon become a very successful one with great prospects of a rapid and at the same time stable growth.

HOPE TO CLOSE UP MEDIATION

Administration Will Present Plan to A. B. C. Diplomats That They May Accept or Reject at Once.

LONG CABINET MEETING HELD

Evasion by Huerta Continues to Threaten to Force U. S. to Change Peaceful Policy

(By JOHN E. NEVIN)
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, May 12—That a comprehensive plan for settling the entire Mexican trouble will be proposed to the A. B. C. mediators was the opinion in administration circles here today. It was agreed by the President and the cabinet that the plan will be such that it will be accepted or rejected by the mediators after they meet at Niagara Falls in a few days. As a result the cabinet meeting decided today this proposition will make it possible to know whether mediation is liable to avert war or not.

For two hours the cabinet discussed the entire Mexican situation. It was the longest session held since the fleet started south. At its close members were unusually speculative. It was understood that Secretary Bryan reported at length on conditions in and about Mexico City. These reports came to him early in the day in a series of dispatches from Mexico City.

Bryan assured the President that direct advices today brought assurances that Consul Silliman will be released before morning. The President was insistent that further dilaatory tactics will not be tolerated in this case. Silliman was a classmate of the President.

It was agreed by the cabinet that the situation was well in hand and that preparation had been made for every possible eventuality. It was also agreed that mediation will have a fair trial and the delay resulting from it will be utilized preparing for hostilities should mediation fail.

Quibbling by Huerta continues to threaten to force the United States to change its peaceful policy. His attitude in piling up petty protests with the mediators against the United States is regarded as indicating that he is not serious in his plans to participate in the mediation conference.

While the state department continues preparing in good faith, officials are ready for the crisis they fear is to come. It was stated today that the entire transport fleet could be loaded within forty-eight hours.

For every one thousand males employed in New Jersey there are 276 females.

would you care to be tried before a jury whose minds were on other affairs and who would not listen to your testimony? The chances are you would want men who would give their whole attention to your case. You may never be tried for murder but the same proposition applies to every business transaction you make. When you want to buy an article go to the man that specializes that article. Now for instance if you need a vehicle of any kind—that is where I ring in. That is why I can give you better vehicle values, better styles and better service. My whole time and attention is centered on one thing. Every day in the year, Mr. Vehicle Buyer, I am working to obtain better prices and better style for you to make your selections from. Place your business with a man who creates new styles and is working at the business every day to give you satisfaction. I want your vehicle business and don't you think it is a better proposition to place it with me than with some one that is selling buggies as a side issue?

STEADY SUPPLY OF GARDEN TRUCK

Specialists of United States Department of Agriculture Suggest

Plan to be Followed.

THREE CROPS IN A SEASON

Possible to Raise Than Many on Small Back Yard Plot 25 by 70 Feet, it is Shown.

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

Washington, May 12.—A small back yard vegetable garden can be made to raise two or three crops during a season, and thus give the average family a nearly continuous supply of fresh vegetables at small expense. Failure to make the ground yield two or three crops is the principal reason that many city dwellers find small yard vegetable patches hardly worth while. At considerable trouble and expense they prepare a garden bed and then, when one crop is over, allow the land to lie idle for the rest of the season, instead of being made to produce other vegetables. Where the two and three crop system is employed, specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say a plot as small as 25 by 70 feet will be well worth cultivating, aside from the pleasure which the actual work gives to adults and children.

One such city garden is so well arranged and so successful that a specialist of the Department has made a diagram of it and has furnished the following description as a guide to city people who would like to raise their own green vegetables in an area not larger than 25 by 70 feet. The same plan, however, is equally useful to those who wish to have a small garden patch in a larger yard. It also should convince those who feel the call of the wild, and who have the ambition to engage in gardening, the no large area is necessary to make the home vegetable raising worth while.

The plot of land consisted of an area 25 feet wide and some 70 feet deep bounded on two sides by a board fence about 6 feet high and on one end by the house and on the other by an alley with a small shed occupying a portion of the alley frontage. This garden provided space for 15 grape vines. Seven vines were planted close to the fence on either side and were trained to it. The fifteenth vine was planted at the need of the shed and the arbor over which it was trained was raised about 18 inches above the top of the shed roof. On either side of the yard and about 3½ or 4 feet from the fence was a narrow flagstone walk. On either side of the walk a row of strawberry plants were placed about 15 inches apart so that there were four rows of strawberries practically the full length of the yard. Between the grape vines and about half way between the walk and the fence currant bushes were planted and between the currant bushes and the strawberry plants some low-growing vegetables such as beans, peppers, eggplants and the like were planted while between the two walks an area, which was about 12 feet wide, was devoted to garden purposes.

In this area the rows of low-growing, quick-maturing, early vegetables were planted so that at proper intervals between them later maturing sorts could be dispersed. The early plantings consisted of rows of radishes, early beets, lettuce, carrots, and a few parsnips, parsnips being placed so that they could have the benefit of the entire growing season, while between were placed first rows of radishes and lettuce and later bunch beans. The beets, later in the season, gave way to a few late cabbage plants. An area was devoted to a dozen tomato plants trained to a single stem on stakes about 4 feet high. These were planted about 18 inches apart in each direction which gave them ample room for maturity. It was necessary, however, that the site for tomatoes should be as sunny as practicable. In the least sunny portion of the yard early and late peas were planted together with a row of sweet peas to supply a few much prized blossoms for the table.

Before the tomatoes are planted, onion sets occupied the area and were allowed to remain until large enough for use or until it was necessary to thin them in certain areas to make space for planting the tomatoes. A few parsley plants were placed in a convenient corner where they did not receive too much light but where the environment was as cool as possible and sufficiently moist to keep the plants growing. It was not deemed wise to attempt to grow any vines such as cucumbers, melons, or squashes in this restricted area. Neither did it pay to grow potatoes or corn but in the autumn it was found wise to plant spinach, kale, and potato-onion sets in order that a supply of green succulent might be had during the winter and early spring.

This garden area was well drained and made very rich by the addition of high grade fertilizers such as dried blood and bone meal, and an abundant supply of well-rotted stable manure. For such a dense plant population to thrive it is necessary to give special attention to the food and moisture supply. This yard which was one of the most attractive from a horticultural standpoint that the writer has ever observed, was an example of highly intensive gardening and one who attempts it must appreciate that careful care as well as abundant food and an intelligent plan so as to take advantage of the location in the area best suited to the requirements of the various plants, are essential to success.

This is especially true of that part from Rushville to Cincinnati, which now has no direct or satisfactory rail communication with Cincinnati.

Our road will not only give excellent passenger facilities, but developed as it will be, will also furnish the very best of freight and express facilities, thus providing for the needs of the Cincinnati merchants and their customers along the line.

The road from Indianapolis to Cincinnati cannot, in its conveniences and advantages, be compared with the ordinary interurban. It is being built for high speed and comfort. The fastest trains will make the run of 111½ miles down into Cincinnati in three hours or less. That this can easily be done is shown on the accompanying time table. Trains number 58 and 74, and the corresponding trains number 59 and 75, known as the "Connerville Dispatch" make the run of 58 miles in one hour and thirty minutes.

The entrance into Cincinnati will be from the northwest, by the way of, and over what is now known as the Cincinnati and Westwood Railroad. This will take us to Queen City Ave., over which we will run to the canal, and thence down the proposed interurban entrance along the canal to the business center of the city.

That the plans of the people of Cincinnati for this interurban entrance should be developed and carried out at an early date, is of the utmost importance to our enterprise, and will permit us to take your customers from our territory to the doors of your respective places of business.

In order that you may see what kind of a line we operate, we will put a special car at your service from Connerville to Rushville, so that as many as may desire so to do can have a ride over that part of our line.

The car will be at the McFarlan Hotel Corner, at Sixth Street and Central Avenue, ready to start for Rushville at 8:00 o'clock Thursday morning.

Likewise we will also have a special car for your use at Shelbyville, to carry such of your party as desire from Shelbyville to Greencastle.

The car will be at our station in Shelbyville ready to leave for Greencastle at 11:10 a.m.

All of the party who desire to make these parts of the trip on our cars are cordially invited. As many as fifty can be conveniently accommodated.

The visitors will understand, of course, that we are not seeking in any way to change their programs, but only extend this invitation in order that they may see what kind of an interurban road we operate, and what may be expected with the extension from Rushville to Cincinnati.

FLAG INCIDENT IS MAIN TOPIC

Task of Mediators Resolves Itself

Into Tampico Affair With Carranza Still Out of Agreement.

COMING TO BE A BIG FARCE

Huerta Protests About Light House

Seizure and Bryan Replies by Demanding Silliman's Release.

Washington, May 12.—While outrages against Americans in Mexico persist and reports of indignities upon consular officers and murder of citizens of the United States continue to reach Washington through various official and unofficial sources, the farce of prospective mediation goes solemnly on.

At this time the task of the mediators has resolved itself down to a discussion of the Tampico flag incident, although Secretary of State Bryan still is hoping that General Carranza will consent to be a party to the negotiations.

General Huerta protested against the seizure of the Mexican lighthouse at Lobos Island, south of Tampico, by Rear Admiral Mayo, and almost simultaneously Secretary Bryan sent a demand to Huerta for the release of John Reid Silliman, American Consul, who is still held a prisoner by the Federals at Saltillo.

According to Rear Admiral Mayo, Lobos Island has not actually been seized from the military point of view, but this does not prevent General Huerta from utilizing the incident in complicating the apparently futile mediation scheme.

Rear Admiral Badger communicated to the Navy Department the following dispatch he had received from Mayo bearing on the Lobos Island affair.

Lobos Island has not been occupied. The Dixie and some destroyers anchored there and other vessels have coaxed there from a collision. The keepers of Lobos Island light deserted it and the Dixie is now maintaining it for the benefit of navigation. I understand that the destroyers have had occasional swimming parties ashore.

By order of General Huerta the lighthouses on the west coast of Mexico are not being operated and this is proving to be a great menace not only to navigation in general but to the American warships now patrolling those waters.

It is the purpose of Secretary of the Navy Daniels to make representations to the Secretary of State, with a view to having the American warships take possession of all lighthouses that are not being maintained by the Mexicans.

Thus a new menace to mediation will arise.

It has become evident that Huerta proposes to protest every action of the American forces in Mexico. Brigadier General Funston reported to the War Department that General Blanquet, Minister of War in the Huerta Cabinet, had addressed a letter to him complaining of the extension of the American lines at Vera Cruz.

Funston replied in most emphatic terms that he had not extended his lines, though he had "thickened" them within the territory already controlled. Huerta is making these protests simply to strengthen his hand when he presents to the mediators his demand that the United States withdraw its forces from Vera Cruz.

The Grand United Order of Odd Fellows planned a pleasant surprise last night on the Household of Ruth with a turkey dinner in the Odd Fellows hall in West Second street. The event was a very enjoyable affair.

Admits a Failure.

The right thing to say is always better said quickly, but if not said quickly it is better said late than left wholly unsaid. It affords pleasure to find in Collier's Weekly, one of the staunchest supporters of the administration's policy in Mexico, and everywhere, the belated admission that the president may have made a mistake in dealing with Mexican affairs. Says the Weekly,

"It is possible, for one who has followed events close at hand to say, at the end of a year of Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy, that its results are not now, and are not likely to be in the future, what he intended. President Wilson has always had a most praiseworthy aversion to intervention, and yet many persons felt at the time of the adoption of his policy that the logical outcome of it would be intervention. At the present moment some form of direct action, sooner or later, seems probable as the only solution of a very difficult situation. From the beginning President Wilson's motives and intentions in the matter of Mexico have been of the highest, and throughout they have met with the assent and approval of the vast majority of the people. It is all the more important to bear this fact in mind now that this policy is turning out less successfully than was hoped for in the beginning. Regardless of all this, the important thing now is to uphold the administration in whatever it does, or attempts to do, in an honorable

Vera Cruz, May 12.—So imminent is the fall of Mexico City that the three representatives of the government, now on their way to Niagara Falls with their families, not only were secretly delighted to leave the dangers of the Capital, but have planned to continue their journey to Europe after the mediation conference.

They know that Dictator Huerta has planned to make a last stand at Puebla, 150 miles east of the Capital. There he can be free after the devastation of Mexico has set in. He expects to be able to hold out against the Rebels until the American forces come and rescue him.

Judge Collins in Address Says it Can be Adapted to the Needs of a Community

SHOWS HOW HIS PLAN WORKED

Payment of Fines on Installment Plan Great Help to Poor—

Speaks at Memphis

(By United Press.)

Memphis, Tenn., May 12.—Addressing the National Conference of Charities and Corrections here today James A. Collins, former judge of the city court of Indianapolis, told how to humanize a court—how to adapt it to the needs of the community. He said his aim while a judge of the court had been to "administer justice tempered with humanity." The welfare of unfortunates, the saving of women and children from hunger and want," he said, "Was the court of much greater moment than the piling up of a vast amount of finds and costs."

Collins said the Indianapolis plan contemplated the following divisions: the suspended sentence; payment of fines on installments; the pledge system for drunkenness; medical and surgical treatment; segregation of minors when imprisonment was necessary; complete restitution in personal injury or property damage cases before final disposition of the case; separate sessions for women's trials; a domestic relations session; employment for those on probation and co-operation with the police.

The enactment of a law allowing the suspended sentence, thus allowing the court to keep an offender within its reach, made possible Judge Collin's entire plan.

Collins said the suspended sentence had saved many novices in crime from harsh punishment. He said during his term he suspended judgment in 700 cases and withheld judgement in 7,559. "Of the latter class less than 3 per cent were returned for a second offence," he said. Good citizens served as probation officers because the law provided no fund for such.

Payment of fines on the installment plan was a great help to the poor, he said. "It was unreasonable to expect a man arrested late at night and convicted in the morning to be prepared to settle with the state. Under the old plan he was sent to prison if he could not pay, not because of the sentence, but because he was poor. The power to parole the misdeemeanant carried with it the power to direct him to pay into the probation department a dollar a week for the fines and costs.

The judge said that the criminal code was absolutely silent upon the question of recovery for loss or damage to property and injuries to person growing out of criminal acts, but that by delaying final disposition with any offense to make full restitution to the injured party.

He said the separate session for woman and girls was first looked upon as a fad, but that it proved to be a sane and wholesome method of dealing with delinquent women.

Concerning the domestic relations session, Judge Collins said: "No more important problem was presented to the court than those cases involving domestic relations. The need for a change in the method of dealing with such cases is thoroughly understood when one realizes the many things involved in the imprisonment of the head of a family, especially when there are many mouths to feed. In order to deal intelligently with these people and to arrive at a just conclusion, Thursday afternoon was set apart for their consideration. A thorough investigation was made by the court matron of the conditions surrounding the man, his home, his employment and his associates and was presented to the court at this special session, to the end that in the final disposition of the case the same might be disposed of to the best interests of the family as well as the individual. This touch of humanity in the administration of justice in a criminal court was not only a profitable investment but meant social regeneration to thousands."

E. E. Hungerford Gives His Version of Case Against Himself, Henry Hungerford and Clyde Barlow.

HE SAYS ROAD WAS VACATED

In the following statement sent to the Daily Republican today, E. E. Hungerford gives the defendant's version of the ease in which affidavits were filed against Elmer E. Hungerford, Henry Hungerford and Clyde Barlow by Herbert DeWitt, charging the three men plowed up a road in Rushville township and rendered it unfit for use:

As the Republican always wishes to have the correct version concerning matters appearing in its columns, I will say, first: that Henry Hungerford, Clyde Barlow and the writer did not plow up any public road or any part of a road. This road has been vacated by petition, according to law, and under the orders of the county commissioners. Trustee J. V. Young is familiar with all of these proceedings. Mr. Young himself said: "If you will wait until next year, I will build this road." Now if the proceedings were not lawful, why did Mr. Young agreed to build this road? He said this last fall. Now we are not making any excuses for our action as we have violated no law. These affidavits are simply spite work. There are a lot more interesting facts in connection with this ease which will given to the public at the right time.

Tillie Mabara, colored, was given a hearing before Mayor Bebout last night on the charge of assault and battery preferred by Rose Taylor. The offence was alleged to have occurred Saturday. After hearing the evidence Mayor Bebout took the ease under advisement.

NEXT GAME IS WITH SPECIALS

Fast Indianapolis Team Will be Attraction at South Main Street Grounds Sunday.

WON FROM LOCALS LAST YEAR

Patterson Will Pitch and New Man Will be at First to Take Bridgeman's Place.

The Indianapolis Specials will be the attraction Sunday at the South Main street grounds. The Specials have a strong team this season, according to their manager and the fans can expect plenty of action. The Specials lost a four to three game to the A. B. C.s this season and have practically the same lineup as when they defeated Rushville 11 to 1 last year.

Manager Fisher expects to take the Specials into camp now that the team is going good. The game last Sunday when the Arcadians defeated the fast Cincinnati All-Pros, showed the fans that the team has the stuff and will fight all the time. Patterson, the former DePauw University pitcher and late of the Minneapolis team in the Northern league will start the game for the Arcadians and is expected to show up well.

first base as he was compelled to leave the team until the college he is attending is out for the summer. Manager Fisher has two men on the string and the best one will be retained until Bridgeman is again ready to join the team.

Manager Fisher is also after an outfielder. With the infield going good the team seems to be all set and with an outfielder that can give additional hitting strength to the team the Arcadians should not be afraid of any of the teams. A game is pending with Connersville here one week from Sunday and if this game is played Rushville will go to Connersville May 31. The Hello Boys of Cincinnati are booked for May 31 but Manager Fisher will play this team later in the season if Manager Remington of the Connersville team wants the Arcadians there on May 31.

Some very classy attractions are booked to appear here and the fans will be given the best baseball ever banded out here. The schedule, subject to change is as follows:

May 17—Indianapolis Specials.
May 24—Connersville here (pending.)
May 31—Rushville at Connersville (pending.)
June 7—Taste Tells.
June 14—Cincinnati Maroons.
June 21—Rushville vs. Cincinnati Shamrocks, at Cincinnati.
June 28—College Hill (Cincinnati) here.
July 5—Cincinnati Superbas.
July 12—Cincinnati Muldoons.
July 19—Newcastle here.
July 26—Indianapolis Reserves
August 2—Rushville at Newcastle.
August 9—Beloe Vista of Cincinnati.
August 16—Shamrocks here.
August 23—Newcastle (pending.)
August 30—Hawaii University Chinese team.

POOR WILL HAVE USE OF CHURCH

New York Minister Will Open Doors to Public When not in use for Religious Services

TO SHOW MOVING PICTURES

Comes as Answer to I. W. W. Raiders—Famous Old Land Mark Soon to Pass

BY CARLTON TEN EYCK

(Written for United Press.)

New York, May 11.—Those "I Won't Workers" who recently invaded some of New York's Churches demanding food and places to sleep have been answered by the Rev. Dr. Percy Grant, of the church of Ascension, in telling fashion. One of the charges of the I. W. W. raiders made against the churches was that they were allowed to lie vacant except occasional, stated intervals, whilst the city's poor slept in the open and the cold.

Dr. Grant is going to throw his church open to the poor, whenever it is not in use for religious services. His plan should be of the deepest interest to every clergyman, priest, churchman and to that great body of individuals who have no "church home."

On certain nights of the week the Church of the Ascension is thrown open and a program of educational moving pictures and lectures, some singing by the church choir and by soloists. The music is carefully chosen by a committee of social workers who include all sects—Jews, Protestants of all denominations, etc. This is done in order that no part of the program is sectarian.

The moving pictures and the lectures are mostly travel. Others are instructive along various other lines such as home-making, garden building, etc. Pictures of historic interest as an incentive to patriotism also are shown. Admission to these free entertainments are by card. The cards are distributed through the "social workers' committee," care being taken to so distribute the invitations that one person in a neighborhood does not have the privilege of attending twice until all the neighborhood has been present.

Dr. Grant's idea is a broad one. He has started the church entertainments in his own buildings with the idea in view to organizing a New York Church Entertainment Society. All church in the city will be asked to join. All will be asked to follow the program at the Church of Ascension. At the first entertainment given by Dr. Grant, two weeks ago, many New York ministers, priests and rabbis were in attendance. All were enthusiastic in their praise of the plan, and arrangements already are under way at a score of other churches to emulate the example set by Dr. Grant.

Still another of New York's famous old landmarks is about to pass before the resistless rush of progress and city growth. The Five Points Mission House, established in 1884 by the women of the New York Ladies' Home Missionary Society, is being torn down to make way for the civic center and country courthouse.

Prior to the establishment of the mission at Five Points, the spot was known throughout the country as the wickedest place in the world. Municipal and state authorities had tried for years to erase this breeding spot of crime. It took the mission to do what the state and city could not accomplish.

Old Five Points was located in a lowly valley that once was a stagnant, disease breeding pond. Flotsam and jetsam of the city centered there, and it seems appropriate that right over where the evil pond had been, was erected what later grew into the most infamous and the lowest house of ill fame even New York has ever known. The building at first was used as a brewery. The name, Culter's Brewery still can be read over the door. Later it was turned into a tenement house. Blind alleys flanked the structure and an open alley ran behind it. They were rightly called "Murderer's Alley" and "Den of Thieves." The locality was first called Five Points in 1817. This was because Worth Street, Baxter Street, Park Street and another street known as Anthony Street converged, making five points.

Once a criminal fled to the spot he had a pretty fair chance to remain free. Few policemen dared venture into the district. Those who were brave enough to do so, never came out alive. A small park, nothing more really than a little spot of open ground, was known ironically as Paradise Park. The spot was so infamous that when Charles Dickens visited New York in 1842, one of the first places he asked to see was the notorious Five Points.

When the mission first opened those brave women were terribly beset. They were subjected to insults, abuse and sometimes bodily harm, but they kept up their fight and finally were tolerated. Then they bought the brewery building. In renovating the place, human bones were found between the floor and ceiling in an upper room. Five years later, Five Points was the center of a number of correctional and charitable institutions. In ten years anyone could go safely through Five Points and in twenty it was one of the most respectable neighborhoods in New York.

SAYS CARL MORRIS NEVER SUNG BETTER

Indianapolis News Pays High Tribute to Former Rush County Man Who Appeared Sunday.

ALL COME FROM INDIANA

The Indianapolis News pays Carl Morris, former Rush county man, a high tribute in commenting on his work as soloist with the Indianapolis orchestra in its last concert. It says: For the final concert of the series given by the Indianapolis Orchestra there was a large audience yesterday afternoon at the Murat. It enjoyed the excellent program, excellently given as it was, and applauded every number. The soloist, Carl Morris, baritone of New York, formerly of this city, gave the most artistic and finished singing of any soloist of the season. "When we want a really good soloist," said Director Ernestine, after Mr. Morris had sung, "we send to New York and they send us a singer from Indiana." It is true.

Mr. Morris, known since the beginning of his career, as a singer of presence and voice, is gaining recognition throughout the east, evidenced by his engagements for several of the fall concert festivals. Yesterday he sang the scene and aria "Eri Tu," from Verdi's "Masked Ball," giving it a distinction and color of unusual finish and beauty, and that brought a warm recognition from the audience. He was compelled to give a double encore, and offered two songs, the first, "Morning," by Oley Speaks, with whom Mr. Morris has coached in New York, and the second, "The Spirit Flower," by Campbell Tipton. Both were given with adequate interpretation and in fine voice. Mr. Morris has never sung better in this city.

NOW A ROAD TEAM

The Arlington Red Sox will play at Shelbyville Sunday. The Red Sox have given up playing at Arlington and will hereafter be a road team. The team has not been making any money at Arlington and Manager Kennedy decided to take the Red Sox on the road.

CLASSIFIED SUBJECTS of the BIBLES

This Book has just been Published Classifying the Following Subjects:

FIRST—That the old world B. C. was seven thousand years old, dating from its Creation to A. D. 1, made known beyond a doubt, by God and not by philosophers or discovery.

SECOND—That the first resurrection of the dead took place immediately after Christ's death and resurrection, and the second about A. D. 1000 and there will be no more.

THIRD—That Jesus Christ redeemed us from death, the penalty of Adam's sin and destroyed the devil, satan that old serpent.

FOURTH—That we now pass from this life, into life everlasting, to live with God, Christ, and our loved ones in the new Garden of Eden, if we have obeyed Christ.

FIFTH—That we will have an heavenly body like unto this one of ours, and substi by eat and drink.

SIXTH—The Holy Ghost, God's gift to Christ—What is it? Not what some think it is, but much more, one of the most important gifts to man, next important to Jesus Christ, and when read and fully understood, as set forth in God's words, it will unite and bind all Churches together in one. Why! to sin against it, you are lost.

SEVENTH—Classifying the book of Revelations given to St. John by Christ, to give to the Churches, the key to all the prophecy, and setting forth their fulfillment by Jesus Christ during the one thousand years of Paradise, making plain all of Christ and the Apostles' teaching.

THE LONG, LOOSE PANNIER IS CHARMINGLY SUITED TO SUMMER FABRICS.

A bodice and pannier of the sheerest of figured net, vested in chiffon, and combined with a straight lined skirt of taffetas is the most attractive recipe for a summer frock illustrated in number 8301. The overblouse is in drop-shoulder style and the gathered tunic is looped up to form one of the new long pannier effects which are among the most favored of the season's modes. Maize is the color of this dress, effectively relieved by the sash and tiny bows of black. For a girl of eighteen, this design requires 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch material or 4 1/4 yards of 42-inch. Taffetas averages 42 inches in width and ranges from $1.25 to $8.00 a yard.

In the second costume (8324-8325) an effective bodice of striped chiffon is combined with a skirt of black silk poplin. The sleeve and shoulder drapery are new features of this blouse and render it most feminine; the two-piece skirt has a draped tunic, also in pannier effect. To copy this costume in size 36, 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material are needed for the bodice (8324) and 4 1/4 yards of the same width for the skirt (8325).

Number 8301 sizes 16, 17 and 18.
Number 8324 sizes 34 to 42.
Number 8325 sizes 22 to 30.

TELLS HOW TO HUMANIZE COURT

Committee on Correction at Charities and Correction Session Recommend Many Reforms

GIVEN BY AMOS W. BUTLER

Would Establish Industrial Farm For Convicted Misdemeanants
Also a Prompt Hearing.

(By United Press.)

Memphis, Tenn., May 12.—The humane method of treating the misdemeanant, outlined in the report of the committee on correction of the national conference of Charities and correction in session here, was given enthusiastic endorsement by the several hundred delegates, representing the vanguard of this country's sociological doctors, in attendance here today. The report, submitted by Amos W. Butler, secretary to the board of state charities in Indiana, before outlining the program paid the following tribute to the present system of dealing with the misdemeanant.

"We know that jails are the spoils of partisan politics. They are maintained largely on the fee basis. Most of them were built without any proper idea of the purpose they were intended to serve. As a rule they are insanitary, they lack provision for separating the sexes and there is no means of employment. Often they are crowded far beyond their capacity. There is little attempt to classify the prisoners. They congregate in the corridors and the older and more experienced in criminal ways instruct the others in vice, immorality and crime. In how many such institutions are women not only waited upon but searched by men?"

"The whole question of the apprehension, treatment and release of the misdemeanant is of tremendous importance. While prison reforms are coming with surprising rapidity, they have been confined largely to the felon. The misdemeanant has been neglected.

"Humanizing the courts" is an expression coming more and more into use. Instead of sending to jail men who are unable to pay their fines, judges are releasing them conditionally and giving them a chance to earn the money. The plan works admirably. Judges are finding that their confidence is seldom misplaced. This principle has recently been enacted into law in Massachusetts. Elsewhere it has been practiced without special authority of law.

"We are further coming to believe that too many persons are sent to prison. Some states have adopted a system of probation, under which many lawbreakers are reclaimed to society without the stigma of a prison sentence. Probation has been successfully tried in Massachusetts, New York and other states.

"We have learned too, the value of the farm colony for the open air employment of almost all classes of public wards. This has been applied to the insane in Wisconsin, Massachusetts and Indiana; to epileptics in New York, New Jersey and Indiana; to feeble-minded in Massachusetts, and Indiana; to both dependent and delinquent children in many states, and more recently to certain classes of prisoners including all kinds of misdemeanants of both sexes.

"We now look forward to the time when we shall have a form of indeterminate sentence for misdemeanants. The success of this form of sentence for felons in many states justifies our belief that it will prove valuable in the treatment of misdemeanants. Certainly some improvement can be made over the present illogical short sentence, which benefits neither the individual nor the public, in whose name he is held.

"The outlook is dark, but it is by no means hopeless. The evils which exist are the natural result of the system we adopted. Let us change the system. Let us begin at the bottom and study all the steps in the treatment of the offender—his apprehension, detention, trial, conviction, probation, confinement, treatment, employment, conditional release, final discharge. Let us set as our goal:

1. A system of police recognizing character, merit and efficiency in the personnel and a proper social view for its operations.

2. A prompt hearing for every person arrested.

3. The establishment of juvenile courts for all children's cases.

4. Provision for the care and detention of delinquent children outside the jail.

5. A probation for adults similar to that of juvenile court.

6. Separate trials for women offenders.

7. A modification of the present system of fines in order not to discriminate against the poor.

8. Classification of inmates and absolute sex separation in county jails.

9. The prohibition of the use of the jail for any other purpose than that of temporary detention.

10. The abolition of the fee system.

11. State control of all minor prisons.

12. The establishment of industrial farms for convicted misdemeanants.

13. A form of indeterminate sentence for misdemeanants.

14. Their release on parole under supervision.

15. The abolition of contract labor.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters that we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Money could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain such recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

CAMDEN, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a galvanic battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go to bed, but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping-chair, and soon became almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his health, and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I am like a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend your medicine to every one and so does my husband."—MRS. TILLIE WATERS, 1135 Knight St., Camden, N.J.

And this one from Mrs. Haddock:

UTICA, OKLA.—"I was weak and nervous, not able to do my work and scarcely able to be on my feet. I had backache, headache, palpitation of the heart, trouble with my bowels, and inflammation. Since taking the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am better than I have been for twenty years. I think it is a wonderful medicine and I have recommended it to others."—MRS. MARY ANN HADDOCK, Utica, Oklahoma.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

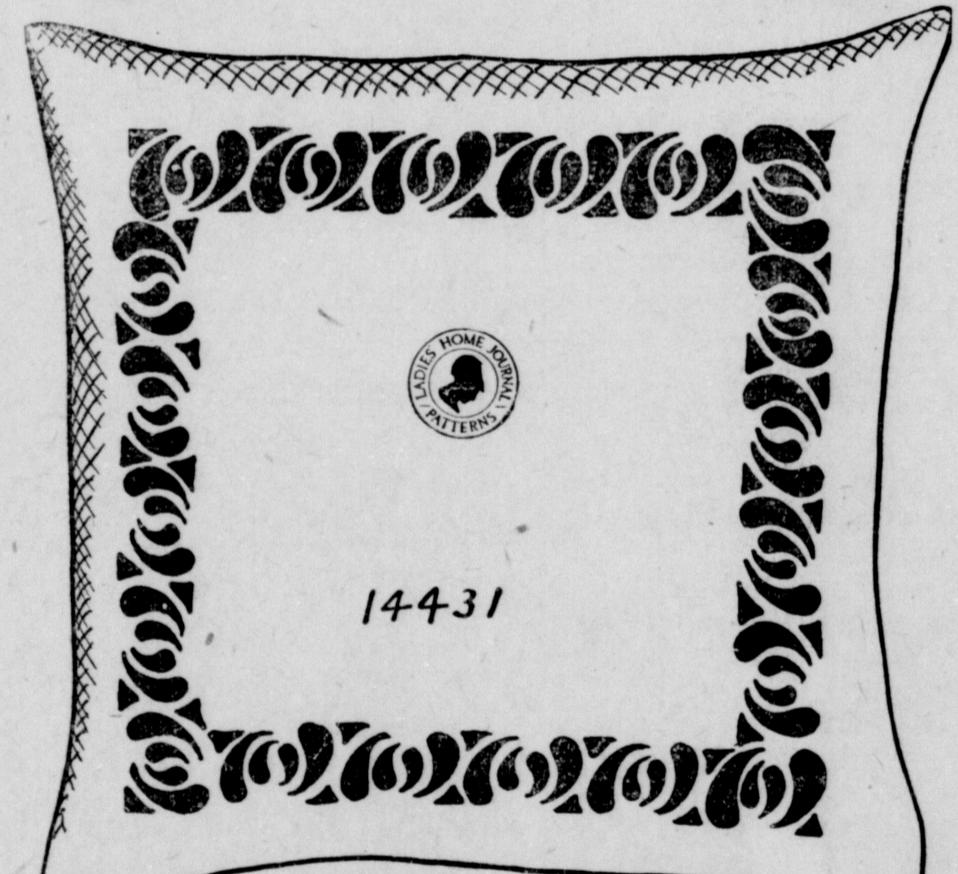

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

'TIS OFT THE COLLAR OR VEST THAT GIVES THE MODISH TOUCH.

Much depends upon our collar today; it may be a rolling flare, a kimono, one of the new hood-shaped collars or a tiny sailor with the "sailor" all in back. These collars are usually of white, generally organdy, batiste or fine muslin; chiffon, too, hemstitched or finished with the picot edge is favored. Vests are being made of these sheer white fabrics too, and they add a touch of crispness that is delightful. With the bolero frocks and suits, cut away sharply to the back, they are especially effective as they are entirely exposed. The afternoon frock of flowered crepe illustrated in number 8355 has a vest and tiny round collar of organdy; the girdle is of black satin. To copy this dress in size 36, 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch material are needed. Silk mulle is the material used in the young girl's dress (8352); the color is yellow and the dress is relieved effectively by a sash of black. The gathered bertha and the flounce sections are outlined with tiny frills of net and the neck is finished with a narrow flaring collar. This design requires for a girl of eighteen, 6 1/2 yards of 36-inch material with 9 yards of lace or net for trimming.

Number 8355 sizes 34 to 42.

Number 8352 sizes 16, 17 and 18.

Predicts Endless Guerrilla Warfare in Case United States Attempts to Take Mexico City.

(By United Press.)

London, May 12.—We are in the lion's mouth, but the lion will not find it easy to eat us," was the declaration of General Huerta in an extended interview in Mexico City, according to a dispatch from the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, published here today.

"Fate has willed that in my hands should rest the decision of life or death for our national independence," Huerta is quoted as saying.

"We are small and weak in comparison with the power which threatens us but if I were to give way I should deserve to be cured by future generations as a traitor."

Huerta predicted endless guerrilla warfare if the Americans attempted to take Mexico City.

Republican County Chairman at Elkhart Says Review Was Also a Progressive Newspaper.

NOW HAS FIELD TO ITSELF

[Special to the Daily Republican.] Elkhart, Ind., May 11.—One week ago the city of Elkhart had two Bull Moose daily newspapers; now it has but one. The "going" for these "uplift" lights became so difficult that it became evident to the professional politicians who were watching over them that if one of them did not quit both would be forced to suspend. For that reason the Elkhart Review now has the Bull Moose field to itself.

"The Elkhart Review has been Bull Moose ever since the Bull Moose sprang into existence in 1912" said E. A. Daussman, Republican county chairman, today. "The report that it is a new recruit to the lost cause is a fabrication. It supported Roosevelt and Beveridge in 1912 and now says, since the other Bull Moose daily has quit, that it will not go to any other party this year. The report that there is not a Republican paper in Elkhart county is also a fabrication out of the whole cloth. The Bristol Banner, H. H. Mosier, publisher, is as good and enthusiastic a Republican paper as is to be found in any county in Indiana."

GOSSIP'S REPEATED TALE

Discouraged, Anthony McKern Takes Acid on Daughters' Grave

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—Anthony McKern, 66 years of age, went to the graves of his two little daughters today in Holy Cross cemetery, took acid and died with his head piled low on the footstone. Gossiping neighbors had told and retold the story of his unhappy marriage. Convinced that he could never lift from the memories of the two little ones the shame he had no part in causing, he chose death.
